

John Ezell, *Ezell Glass

John has been blowing glass for over 20 years. He fell in love with the art form while visiting a friend's glass shop in 2000. At the time he was working as a blacksmith, taking months to create a single finished piece, and when he saw that he could create a beautiful piece of art full of vibrant colors and intricate designs in 45 minutes he was forever hooked. John draws inspiration from the past and the present. He is primarily influenced by classic Venetian style and technique, as well as his natural surroundings found throughout his life on the west coast and travels abroad. John's drive to push the envelope comes from his growing young family. He hopes that he can set an example for his young son and daughter that you can achieve your dreams if you set your mind to it.
